

INDIE FEATURE COMPLETES PRODUCTION

Lorna C. Hill – Special Guest Star

Buffalo – Arlington Place Pictures, Dramatic Solutions, and Ndstudios are pleased to announce they have a final cut of the indie feature film, Give & Take.

This low budget (under $100,000) coming of age comedy set in the truly Bizarre worlds of community theatre and theme parks was shot with a crew of 25 and a cast of 150 starring Bonnie Jean Taylor, Guy Balotine, Kevin Craig, and Richard Lambert.

Give & Take is the It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World of WNY – dozens of WNY theatre heavy hitters in guest starring roles including Mary Kate O'Connell, Vincent O'Neill, Loraine O'Donnell, Lorna C. Hill, Chris Standard, and Jon Summers.

Written and produced by Gail Golden, directed by Scott Andrew Kurchak, and filmed by Matthew A. Nardone, Give & Take will be screened for cast and crew at the Market Arcade in September and will have a sneak preview at the Cinefamily theatre in West Hollywood in August. Give & Take was filmed entirely in Western New York. The many locations include The Kav-inoky Theatre, The New Phoenix Theatre, The Foundry, The North Park movie theatre, and Kleinhan's Music Hall.

The web site with more information about Give & Take is:
www.giveandtakethemovie.com